Why sell at auction

Have you considered auction as a route to sale? We have proven success selling all types of property and land at auction across the UK.

Instant Exchange & Fast Completion

Once a property or land sells at auction, the buyer and seller enter into a legally binding contract, with exchange taking place on the day. Completion then typically takes place within 28 days.

Best Price

Our Auctioneers are experts at encouraging competitive bidding to ensure you get the best possible price for your property. There's also no gazundering or reduced offers at auction.

Trusted Nationwide

Our partners, Auction House, have been selling properties and land across the UK since 2007 and are rated excellent on Trustpilot, reflecting the positive experience of buyers and vendors.

Personal Service

We know that selling property can be extremely personal. That's why Auction House sensitively handle every enquiry and sale, providing advice based on individual circumstances.

Strategic Marketing

Auction House benefit from an extensive database of prospective buyers within your area and across the UK, who are looking to purchase their next property at auction.
